613 tem. They are mentioned in many myths, stories, and songs.
614 They are the owners of many songs and ceremonies. It is 571 also their prerogative to give orders for any activity.
224 Akaruyo Bokodori gives orders for activities performed out-326 side the village, such as hunting, fishing, or war. Bakoro-701 kudu gives orders for activities within the village, such as 196 performing ceremonies and singing. Actually, the one who de-533 cides what the Bororo are going to do is the chief (or chiefs) 622 of the village. He may or may not belong to one of the two lineages, since to become chief is a personal achievement 613 (see page 104). But after the chief makes a decision, 614 Akaruyo Bokodori or Bakorokudu will give the formal orders.
571 Because their rights are clearly divided and complementary, and because both of them belong to the same moiety, the kind of relationship existing between these two brothers should be very significant. The question of which of them is older and which is younger is a crucial one. The Bororo are not in agreement. There are examples of ornaments, objects, and ceremonies which indicate that Akaruyo Bokodori is the more important of the two. But there are just as many examples which indicate Bakorokudu is the more important, and some Bororo say that they are of equal importance. This is a very unusual statement about "brothers" in a society where even twins are distinguished as older and younger. One informant, who otherwise claimed that Bakorokudu was the older of the two, said that originally Bokwarebo (a lineage of the Badajebage Chobugiwuge clan) was older than Akaruyo Bokodori, gives orders for a communal hunt or fishing. The first one commands activities to be performed in the men's house or on the village plaza; the second one commands activities performed outside of the village. The first commands ceremonial, sacred activities; the second commands economic, profane activities. Here again we find a homologous relationship between older brother and male ancestor and younger brother and female ancestor expressed through the opposition between center and periphery; activities within the village and activities outside the village; the village and the forest; the men's house in the center of the village, as the place for making ornaments and performing ceremonies, and the women's houses around it, as the place where everyday life is carried on.

When they talk about the communal hunt, the Bororo say that in the past the headmen went with the hunters, but they themselves did not hunt; they only prevented their subjects from quarreling with each other; they kept order and peace and saw to it that the hunt went smoothly. In the village plaza and in the men's house, the leaders' place is in the center; the commoners sit around them. In addition to commanding the hunt, Akaruyo Bokodori is associated with war and killing. From stories and songs he is known as killer of many Bororo. Bakorokudu, on the other hand, is the peacemaker, a trait which he inherited from Baitogogo. Baitogogo is famous not only for his wisdom, but also for his mercy toward enemies. There are many stories about Baitogogo sav-
